N.B. First, Second, and Third Examinations of the Conjoint Examining Board in England are held during this month.

HISTORICAL SUMMARY.

THE early history of the ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND is the history of two Companies, which, existing at first as separate fraternities or guilds, were for a time united into one body corporate, and finally became resolved again into two distinct Corporations. One of these, the Barbers' Company of London, is first definitely mentioned, in the records preserved at the Guildhall, in the year 1308, when Richard le Barber was presented and sworn before the Court of Aldermen as Master and Supervisor of the Barbers' Guild; and from an Ordinance of the City made in the previous year it is evident that the Barbers of London were at that time engaged in the practice of at least some branches of Surgery. The other Company, known as the Fellowship or Guild of Surgeons, is mentioned in the City records in the year 1369, when two Masters were sworn before the Court of Aldermen and given power to report the faults of unskilful Surgeons.

Origin of the College.

The Barbers' Company first mentioned in 1308.

The Surgeons' Guild mentioned in 1369.

Between these two bodies there was for many years a keen rivalry and jealousy. Each tried by turns to attain supremacy of authority and jurisdiction in matters relating to the practice of Surgery. In the year 1376 the Barbers made a complaint to the Mayor and Aldermen against unskilled practitioners in Surgery, and obtained an Ordinance providing that two Masters should be appointed annually to direct and rule the Craft, to inspect instruments, and to see that none should be admitted to the franchise of the City except after attestation of their skill by good examination. Fourteen years later, however, four Masters of the Surgeons' Guild were sworn before the Court of Aldermen, and they were invested with the power of scrutiny among persons practising Surgery and with authority to present defaults. But in the year 1410 the Barbers obtained from the Court of Aldermen confirmation of the privileges granted to them in 1376 with the addition that they should be enjoyed "without the scrutiny of any person or persons of any other craft or trade under any name whatsoever other than the craft or trade of the said Barbers."

Barbers' Company assumes two-fold character.

The Barbers' Company was by this time assuming a twofold character, for it consisted of two classes of members, those who were Barbers simply or practised only the minor branches of Surgery, such as blood-letting and tooth-drawing, and those who exercised the faculty of Surgery. In the year 1415 the Mayor and Aldermen required the Company to furnish them with a list of all the latter class of members, from which they selected two as Masters of those practising Surgery, leaving to the Company itself the election of the Masters of the Barbers. Meanwhile the Guild of Surgeons sought an alliance with the Physicians. About the year 1423, probably through the influence of Thomas Morstede (a Surgeon who accompanied Henry V. to Agincourt and who was afterwards Surgeon to Henry VI.), they obtained an Ordinance from the Court of Aldermen having for its object an association or Commonalty of Physicians and Surgeons. Fortified by the support of the Physicians, the Surgeons once more challenged the surgical privileges of the Barbers, but these were again confirmed by the Mayor and Aldermen in 1424. The scheme for a combination of Physicians and Surgeons fell through, but the Surgeons continued a separate body with Ordinances for the government of their Society. The volume containing these Ordinances, which were made in the year 1435, is still in existence and is now in the possession of the Barbers' Company.

The Barbers incorporated by Edward IV. in 1462.

Freed from opposition, the Barbers' Company continued to grow in importance, and in the year 1462 the right of its members to practise Surgery was definitely established by LETTERS PATENT granted by EDWARD IV. in the first year of his reign. This Charter, from which the Royal College of Surgeons of England, as recited in the Charter of 1800, dates its constitutional history as a body corporate, was granted to the Freemen of the Mystery of Barbers of the City of London practising Surgery. They were made one Body and Perpetual Community with a Common Seal and with power to hold lands and make Bye-Laws. Provision was made for the annual election of two Masters to rule the Community, to have the scrutiny and government of all persons practising Surgery in London and its suburbs, as well as the supervision of their instruments and medicines, and to have power to inflict punishment upon offenders by fines, imprisonment and other reasonable means. No person was to be allowed to practise Surgery within the City of London and its suburbs unless first approved by the Masters of the Company. The surgical rights of the Barbers' Company were thus firmly established, and, as testimony to the eminence attained by the Surgeons of the Company, it is worthy of note that the Senior Warden of the Company, when the Charter was granted, was WILLIAM HOBBS, Serjeant-Surgeon to the King—probably the first to hold that office.

In the year 1493 the Guild of Surgeons, which had continued as a separate body, entered into an alliance or "Composition" with the Barbers' Company, by which the two Companies agreed each to appoint two Wardens, the four so appointed to act together in all matters relating to Surgery and to the examination and government of its practitioners.

The Charter granted by Edward IV. to the Barbers' Company was confirmed by Henry VII. and also by Henry VIII., but in 1511 an Act (3 Henry VIII. cap. 11) was passed, constituting a further licensing authority by enacting that no person should practise as a Physician or Surgeon in London, or within seven miles of the same, unless first examined and approved by the Bishop of London, or the Dean of St. Paul's, with the assistance of four Physicians or Surgeons. Two years later, upon the petition of the Guild of Surgeons, another Act (5 Henry VIII. cap. 6) was passed, providing that a limited number of members of the Fellowship (or Guild) of Surgeons, as also of members of the Barbers' Company duly admitted as Surgeons, should be exempt from Constableness and Watch and from bearing arms and serving upon inquests and juries within the City of London.

IN THE YEAR 1540 the two Companies, which had so long been associated by voluntary agreement, were formally united by Act of Parliament, and thus entered upon a new era in their career. The Act (32nd HENRY VIII. cap. 42) after reciting that there were two distinct Companies of Surgeons in London, one called the Barbers of London and the other the Surgeons of London, enacted that the two Companies should from thenceforth be united and made one Body Corporate, to be called by the name of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery and Commonalty of the Barbers and Surgeons of London. The United Company was to enjoy all the rights and privileges at any time granted to the two separate Companies. Four Masters or Governors, two to be Surgeons and two to be Barbers, were to be appointed annually; barbers were forbidden to perform any surgical operations, except the drawing of teeth, and surgeons were not to exercise the craft of barbery and shaving. Provision was also made for the study of Anatomy by giving the Company the right to claim four bodies annually of persons executed for felony. THOMAS VICARY, Serjeant-Surgeon to Henry VIII. and afterwards to Mary and to Elizabeth, was elected the first Master. The United Company shared the possession of Barbers' Hall, which is known to have occupied its present site in Monkwell Street since 1490 and was probably there even before that. The Hall, subsequently added to by Inigo Jones in 1636, is still standing, having escaped destruction in the Great Fire of London.

Of the Act 34th and 35th Henry VIII. regarding treatment of minor ailments by unlicensed persons.

The Union thus effected was destined to last for more than two hundred years. At first, however, the privileges conferred on the Surgeons of the Company appear to have excited opposition, for in the 34th and 35th years of Henry VIII. an Act was passed allowing unlicensed persons to treat outward sores and swellings with herbs and ointments.

Origin of Court of Examiners in 1555.

During the reign of QUEEN MARY, in the year 1555, Regulations were drawn up relating to the examination of persons for the Company's Licence to practise. These Regulations provided for the appointment of thirteen Examiners, including the Master and two Governors. This is the origin of the Court of Examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, although it was not until the time of Charles I. that the appointment of ten Examiners—the number continued to this day—was provided for by Charter.

Letters Patent of James I. and provisions thereof, 1605.

In the year 1605 the Company obtained a Charter from JAMES I. providing that the Governing Body of the Company should consist of four Masters or Governors, two of whom were to be Surgeons, and twenty-six Assistants. The Company was given power to examine Barbers and Surgeons, and to prohibit ignorant persons, or such as wilfully refused to be examined, from practising.

Letters Patent of Charles I. and provisions thereof, 1629.

In the year 1629 CHARLES I. granted a further Charter to the Company, providing that ten Freemen of the Company should be elected and constituted Examiners of Surgeons in London. No one was to practise Surgery in London, or within seven miles of it, except Members of the College of Physicians, unless examined and approved by the Examiners of the Company, and every person so approved might practise Surgery anywhere in England. Apprentices were to serve for not less than seven years, to be sound in body and limbs, and to read and understand Latin. The duty was also assigned to the Court of Examiners of examining Surgeons and Surgeons' Assistants for the Royal Navy and Merchant Service and of inspecting their instruments and chests of medicines. This duty they and their successors, the Company of Surgeons and the Royal College of Surgeons, continued to discharge until other arrangements were made at a comparatively recent date.

For many years the union between the two Companies appears to have worked smoothly, but as early as 1684 there were signs that the Surgeons were beginning to find their association with the Barbers irksome and inconvenient. In that year a Petition for the dissolution of the United Company was presented to the King, but the agitation died out, and it was not until many years later that further steps were taken in the matter. The dissatisfaction, however, continued. From the year 1540 the practice of Surgery had been entirely separated from that of barbering, and much progress had been made in surgical skill and knowledge. Under the United Company several of the Surgeons had attained great eminence in their profession, and among these may be mentioned Richard Ferris, Thomas Gale, the two Clowes', Wiseman, Amyand, Cheselden, Sir Caesar Hawkins, and Percivall Pott. The Surgeons resented the presence of Barbers at their examinations, and objected to the signatures of Barbers appearing upon Surgical Diplomas. In 1744 they informed the Barbers that they intended to petition Parliament for the dissolution of the union. The Barbers protested against this, and both parties presented Petitions to Parliament. The Surgeons prevailed, and in the year 1745 an Act of Parliament was passed dissolving the union and establishing two separate Companies. The Barbers were allowed to retain the whole of the Corporate property, real and personal, with the exception of the Arris Bequest and Gale's Annuity for Anatomy Lectures founded in 1646 and 1655 respectively. These Trusts the Act vested in the Company of Surgeons, and they are now administered by the Royal College of Surgeons.

appointed for life, of whom one was to be Master and two Governors or Wardens elected annually, and of whom ten were to be Examiners appointed for life. JOHN RANBY, Serjeant-Surgeon to George II. (whom he accompanied to the battle of Dettingen in 1743), became the first Master of the Company, and upon taking his seat he presented a handsome silver cup, which is still in the possession of the College. The First Wardens were JOSEPH SANDFORD and WILLIAM CHESELDEN. These appointments were made by the Act, which also specified by name the ten Examiners and sixteen Members of the Court of Assistants. The sixteen thus appointed were directed to meet forthwith, and select from the Freemen of the Company five others to complete the number of the Court. Thereafter, the Court were to meet on the first Thursday in July in each succeeding year for the election of the Master and Governors, and to fill up any vacancies, which from time to time might occur from death or resignation among the Examiners and Assistants. In addition to examining Surgeons for the Navy the Examiners were also required to examine all candidates for the posts of Surgeon or Surgeons' Mate in the Army. The Freemen of the Company were to enjoy the same Surgical privileges as approved Surgeons of the United Company had enjoyed under the Act of Union and Charter of Charles I., and, while in the practice of their profession, were to be exempt from all Parish, Ward, and Leet Offices and from serving upon Juries.

Surgeons Hall
built.

The Surgeons had to find a new home, and, after holding their first meetings at Stationers' Hall, eventually secured premises in the Old Bailey and there built Surgeons' Hall, entering into occupation in 1751. Here the business of the Company was transacted until 1796, when the Court of Assistants, finding the building in need of substantial repair and their tenure of the premises secured for not more than fifty-five years, determined to dispose of the property and erect a new building upon a freehold site.

Difficulties
caused by irregular meeting of Court of Assistants in 1796.

About this time the Company became involved in difficulties in consequence of a provision in the Act of Incorporation which had unfortunately been framed without due regard to possible eventualities. This provision required that the Master and Governors, or any two of them, with nine or more members of the Court of Assistants, should constitute a Court for the despatch of business. On the 7th July, 1796, a meeting was held at which the Master, Mr. Gunning, presided, but at which no Governor was present, one having died in the previous May and the other being too ill to attend. Consequently it was impossible to obtain a properly constituted quorum. Nevertheless the Court conducted its ordinary business, and among other matters elected Henry Cline to the Court of Assistants. In spite of this technical defect in their constitution, the Court of Assistants continued to transact the business of the Company. They disposed of their property in the Old Bailey and acquired a freehold site in Lincoln's Inn Fields, upon which part of the present building of the Royal College of Surgeons of England now stands. The business of the Company was not suspended. Examinations were held and Diplomas were issued. The Examinations of Surgeons for the Navy and Army were also continued. It became, however, necessary to find some means of removing the legal difficulties which had arisen, and, for this purpose and also with the object of acquiring additional powers and authority, a Bill was introduced into Parliament. The Bill passed through the Commons, but was thrown out in the House of Lords; and after further deliberation it was determined to abandon the Bill and to petition for a Charter from the Crown.

Meanwhile Parliament entrusted to the care of the Company the Hunterian Collection purchased for the Nation at a cost of £15,000. The Collection was delivered to the Company under an Order of the Treasury, dated 28th November, 1799, and in March 1800 the Company was re-incorporated and constituted by the name of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, by Charter granted by George III. In the year 1806 Parliament voted a sum of £15,000, and subsequently a further sum of £12,500, in aid of the erection of a building for the display of the Hunterian Collection. A contribution of £21,000 was at the same time made from the funds of the College, and the Museum was opened to visitors in 1813.

The Charter of the 40th GEORGE III. definitively severed the connexion of the College with the Corporation of the City of London. Members of the College were not entitled to any franchise belonging to the Freemen of the City, but all other privileges and possessions acquired under former Acts and Charters, and not altered by the Charter then granted, were continued and ratified. The Court of Assistants still consisted of twenty-one Members appointed for life with power to fill up vacancies as they might happen, and from them were chosen the ten Examiners, the Master and two Governors or Wardens being selected from these ten. The two principal Serjeant-Surgeons and the Surgeon-

Titles of Master and Governors changed to President and Vice-Presidents, and Court of Assistants to be called Council.

Name of College changed to Royal College of Surgeons of England and Fellowship instituted in 1843.

Number of Council increased.

Constitution of Court of Examiners altered.

CHARLES HAWKINS, Serjeant-Surgeon to George III., was appointed the First Master, and WILLIAM LONG and GEORGE CHANDLER became the first Governors. All Members of the old Company of Surgeons, on signifying their acceptance of the Charter, were entitled to become Members of the College, and any person in the future desiring to become a Member was required to pass an examination and obtain "Letters Testimonial of his Qualification to practise the Art and Science of Surgery under the Common Seal of the College." In addition to examining candidates for the Membership, the Court of Examiners were required, as under the former Acts and Charters, to examine all Army and Navy Surgeons, their Assistants and Mates, and to inspect their instruments.

A further Charter, granted by GEORGE IV. in 1822, changed the titles Master and Governors to President and Vice-Presidents, and provided that the Court of Assistants should in future be styled the Council of the College.

No change was, however, made in the constitution of the College until the year 1843, when a new Charter (7th VICTORIA) was obtained, which changed the name of the College to The Royal College of Surgeons of England, and instituted a new class of Members, who were to be called FELLOWS, from and by whom the Council were to be elected. The number of the Council was increased to twenty-four, and, while the existing Members of the Council were allowed to continue in office for life, provision was made that three elected Members should retire annually, so that, when no more life-Members were left, it would not be possible for a Member to retain his seat for a longer period than eight years without re-election.

A great change was also effected by this Charter in the constitution of the Court of Examiners. They were no longer to be necessarily selected from the Council, but any Fellow, whether on the Council or not, was made eligible. The Examiners then in office were to continue for life, but all future Examiners were to hold office only during the pleasure of the Council. The Serjeant-Surgeons and Surgeon-General to the Forces were no longer to have any preference of being admitted Examiners, and the President and Vice-Presidents were not to be chosen exclusively from the Examiners but from all the Members of the Council indifferently, whether Examiners of the College or not.

The Charter further provided that the President, Vice-Presidents and Members of the Council should be Fellows, and directed them to elect, within three months from the date of the Charter, not less than 250 and not more than 300 Members of the College to be Fellows. They were also given power to appoint other Members to be Fellows within one year from the date of the Charter. With these exceptions no persons were to be admitted to the Fellowship except by examination, nor until attaining the age of twenty-five years. The first Fellows, 300 in number, were chosen mainly from the Surgeons, Assistant-Surgeons and Lecturers of the Metropolitan and Provincial Hospitals. They were elected under one general Diploma on December 11th, 1843. A further election of 242 Fellows took place on the 26th August, 1844, and these included a considerable number of representatives of the Naval, Military and Indian Forces.

Provision for election of the first Fellows.

In the year 1852 further extension of the principle of election to the Fellowship without examination was made by a Supplemental Charter (15th VICTORIA), which enabled the Council to elect Members of fifteen years' standing to the Fellowship, provided they were Members when the Charter of 1843 was enacted. The Council were also empowered to admit annually to the Fellowship, without examination, two Members of the College of twenty years' standing, and authority was given for the ad eundem admission to the Fellowship, under certain conditions, of Fellows by examination of the Dublin and the Edinburgh Colleges of Surgeons, and the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow. This Charter also provided that Members of the Court of Examiners thereafter elected should go out of office at the end of five years, but should be eligible for immediate re-election. Provision was also made for the appointment of a Board of Examiners in Midwifery for testing the fitness of persons to practise Midwifery, and Licences in Midwifery were granted to persons passing the Examinations of the Board until the year 1875, after which the Examinations were discontinued.

Further provision for the election of Fellows in 1852.

Examiners to retire at end of five years.

Licence in Midwifery instituted.

In the year 1859 the Licence in DENTAL SURGERY was instituted under the Charter of the 23rd VICTORIA, which empowered the Council to appoint a Board of Examiners for testing the fitness of persons to practise as Dentists.

Licence in Dental Surgery instituted in 1859.

Enabling Act of 1875. In the year 1875 an Act of Parliament was passed to enable the College to associate itself with one or more of the Colleges or Bodies named in Medical Acts for the purpose of conducting joint examinations for qualifications to be registered under the Acts. In pursuance of the provisions of this Act the College subsequently entered into an Agreement with the Royal College of Physicians of London, establishing a CONJOINT EXAMINING BOARD and requiring that all candidates for the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians of London and the Membership of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, commencing professional study after the 1st October, 1884, should pass the Examinations of the Board before becoming entitled to their Diplomas. Thus was constituted the present Examining Board of the two Colleges. The Examination Hall on the Victoria Embankment, where the Examinations of the Board are held, was erected at the joint expense of the two Colleges. The foundation-stone was laid by QUEEN VICTORIA on the 24th March 1886, and the Hall was first used for examinations in the year 1887.

Charter of 1888 allows Fellows to record votes at Council Elections by papers sent through Post. In the year 1888 a Supplemental Charter was obtained, mainly with the objects of enabling the College to hold lands and hereditaments of a greater yearly value than that previously sanctioned, and of allowing Fellows to record their votes at elections to the Council by voting-papers sent through the Post, instead of by personal attendance at the College, as required up to that time.

Honorary Fellowship instituted by Charter in 1899. The last Charter, obtained by the College in 1899, the 63rd year of Queen Victoria's reign, enables the Council to elect persons, whom they shall deem to be sufficiently distinguished for the purpose, to be Honorary Fellows of the College. These Honorary Fellows, the number of whom must not exceed fifty at any time, are not eligible for the Council or for the Court of Examiners, nor are they entitled to vote at Elections to the Council. Their status is purely honorary and does not confer the right to practise Surgery. At the head of a list of distinguished names the College has the honour to place that of KING EDWARD VII. His Majesty, when Prince of Wales, became the first Honorary Fellow of the College, and, after ascending the Throne, signified his pleasure to retain the title.

The first Honorary Fellow.

HUNTERIAN ORATION.

In the year 1813 Dr. Matthew Baillie and Sir Everard Home, Bart., Executors of John Hunter, "being desirous of showing a lasting mark of respect to the memory of the late Mr. John Hunter," gave to the College the sum of £1684 4s. 4d. Three per cent Consolidated Bank Annuities for the endowment of an annual Oration, to be called the Hunterian Oration, and to be delivered in the Theatre of the College on the 14th of February, the Birthday of John Hunter, by the Master, or one of the Governors for the time being, or such other Member of the Court of Assistants as should be appointed by the Master and Governors or any two of them—such Oration to be expressive of the merits in Comparative Anatomy, Physiology, and Surgery, not only of John Hunter, but also of all such persons, as should be from time to time deceased, whose labours have contributed to the improvement or extension of Surgical Science.

The Endowment was accepted by the College under a Deed of Trust dated the 9th October 1813, containing, amongst others, the following conditions:—That the Fund should be vested in the names of three Members of the Court of Assistants; that £10, part of the interest accruing from the Fund, should be given to the Orator; and that the remainder of the interest should be expended in providing a Dinner, on the day of the delivery of the Oration, for the Members of the Court of Assistants and such other persons as the Master and Governors for the time being should think proper to invite.

In 1853, after consultation with the representatives of the founders of the Trust, it was decided that the Oration should in future be delivered biennially instead of annually.

ARRIS AND GALE LECTURES.

The Arris Lectures were founded in 1646 by Mr. Edward Arris, a Member of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons, of which he became Master in 1651. He was also an Alderman of the City of London in that year. He died on the 28th May 1676. His portrait in one picture with a portrait of Sir Charles Scarborough, who was appointed to deliver the Arris Lectures in 1649, is in the possession of the Barbers' Company.

From the Minute Books of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons it appears that on the 24th March 1646 Mr. Edward Arris paid to the Company a sum of £300 "for the use of the new publique Anatomy." This sum was subsequently repaid to Mr. Arris, and in lieu thereof he settled upon the Company an annuity of £30, which shortly before his death he redeemed by the payment of £510. By the Act of Parliament of the 18th George II (1745) for dissolving the Union between the Barbers and Surgeons this sum of £510 was given and vested in the Company of Surgeons then incorporated, and upon the dissolution of that Company became vested in the College.

In the final settlement of the Trust no conditions appear to have been imposed save an understanding that the Anatomy Lectures of the Company were to be continued. By an Act of Parliament passed in 1540 the Company were entitled to claim four bodies annually of persons executed for felony, and to make use of them for the study of Anatomy. The bodies were dissected, and lectures on the muscles and other subjects were given. The Surgeons of the Company were required to attend these lectures and demonstrations, which were called "Public Anatomies." The intention of Mr. Arris was to assist the Company in this work, and the lecturers appointed under this foundation were at first called "Readers of the Muscular Lecture."

Under the Company of Surgeons the Arris Lectures were from 1753 to 1766 delivered by the Masters of Anatomy, of whom the first to be appointed were Percivall Pott and John Hunter. In 1767 the office of Professor of Anatomy was created, and the Arris Lectures were assigned to him.

The Gale Lectures were founded by Mr. John Gale of Bushey, a Member of the Company of Barbers and Surgeons, who, by his Will, dated 13th August 1655, left to the Company an Annuity of £16, payable out of the rents of certain premises on Snow Hill in the City of London, for one Anatomy Lecture in every year to be called Gale's Anatomy.

This Annuity, together with the Arris Bequest, was by the Act of Parliament of 1745 vested in the Company of Surgeons, and upon the dissolution of that Company became vested in the College. In pursuance of Acts of Parliament passed in the 35th and 44th years of George III for the improvement of Snow Hill, the Rent

Charge of £16 per annum was purchased by the City of London for the sum of £432, which sum, in accordance with the directions of those Acts, was invested in the name of the Accountant General of the Court of Chancery, until the same shall again be invested in some Real Estate, and the same was laid out in the purchase of £689 16s. 5d. Consolidated Bank Annuities, the interest thereof being paid to the College.

The earliest record of a lecture under this Trust is dated 30th June 1698, when it was "ordered that there be an Anatomy Lecture called Gale's Anatomy," and Dr. Havers, well known for his description of the canals in bone, since called Haversian, was appointed the first Reader. The Lecture was afterwards called the Osteology Lecture.

Under the Company of Surgeons the Lecture was at first allotted to the senior Master of Anatomy, and afterwards to the Professor of Anatomy.

At the beginning of the Nineteenth Century, lectures were for a time suspended at the College owing to building operations, but were resumed in 1810. It was then determined that six lectures should be delivered annually under the Arris and Gale Trusts. The lectures were no longer distinguished as "muscular" and "osteological," but were united into one course delivered by a Professor of Anatomy and Surgery. In 1857 the title of the lecturer was altered to Professor of Human Anatomy and Surgery, and in 1868 to Arris and Gale Lecturer. In 1864 the number of lectures was reduced to three. Honorarium for the three lectures, the amount of the dividends received from the Arris Bequest and Gale Annuity—about £29.

ERASMUS WILSON LECTURES.

With the object of promoting the study of the Pathology together with the Anatomy and Physiology, human and comparative, of the Skin and its Appendages, the late Sir Erasmus Wilson gave to the College the sum of £5000 New Three per cent. Consols, under a Deed of Trust, dated the 8th July 1869, to found and endow a Professorship of Dermatology. The Council appointed Sir Erasmus Wilson to the Professorship, and during the period 1870-78 he delivered six lectures annually, and presented to the Museum a large collection of casts and models used in illustration of his lectures.

In 1879 certain alterations in the terms of the Trust were effected with the approval of the Founder, providing that the income derived from the Fund should be devoted to the promotion of original researches by lectures delivered at the College, the number of such lectures not to exceed three in any one year, and to be given by one or more persons to be called Erasmus Wilson Professors of Pathology.

In 1882 further alterations were thought desirable, and under a new Deed of Trust, dated the 13th April 1882, it is now provided that the income of the Fund shall be appropriated in part towards the payment of the salary of a Pathological Curator of the Museum, and in part for the payment of Lectures on the Pathological contents of the Museum to be delivered by the Pathological Curator or some other person appointed for the purpose with the title of Erasmus Wilson Lecturer. Three lectures were delivered annually from 1882 to 1908. In July 1908 it was decided to institute a series of Lectures or Demonstrations on advanced Surgical Pathology, illustrated by specimens in the Museum, and the Erasmus Wilson Lectures now form part of this Series. Six Demonstrations are given annually. Honorarium £30.

The Bradshaw Lecture was founded in memory of her husband by the late Mrs. Sally Hall Bradshaw, widow of Dr. William Wood Bradshaw, M.A.Oxon., D.C.L., LL.D., a Fellow of the College for many years in practice at Reading. Consols, the income thereof to be expended upon a lecture on Surgery to be called "The Bradshaw Lecture," and to be delivered annually on the 18th August, the anniversary of Dr. Bradshaw's death.

In 1882 an Order of Administration of the Bequest was obtained from the Charity Commissioners, which provided that the Lecture should be delivered on the 18th day of August, or on such other day as might be expressly substituted in each year for that day by the President. Honorarium of Lecturer, about £24.

I. Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members.

This Meeting was held on Thursday, the 19th November, 1908, at 3 o'clock P.M.

The Chair was taken by the President, Mr. Henry Morris. Twenty-nine Fellows, including 16 Members of the Council, and 115 Members attended the Meeting.

The President placed before the Meeting the Report of the Council for the period from the 1st August 1907 to the 1st August 1908, and made a statement regarding some of the matters which had come under the consideration of the Council during the year.

The President also stated that copies of the Report had been circulated to 723 Fellows and 2931 Members.

Dr. Walter Smith asked :

How many Diplomas of deceased Fellows, Members, and Licentiates, who have died during the past year, have been returned to the College, and what steps, if any, have been taken to ensure they be returned or improper use be not made of them.

The President answered :

The Diploma of one Member, who died in the past year, has been returned to the College. The following notice is now attached to Diplomas issued from the College:—"It is requested that, on the death of a Member of the College, his Diploma of Membership be returned to the Secretary, Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, W.C."

The following Motion was proposed by Mr. Joseph Smith and seconded by Mr. Sidney C. Lawrence :—

- I. That this Meeting thanks the Council for having for the first time in its history taken a poll of the Members of the College, but regrets that the Council found itself unable to abide by the result.

This Meeting also trusts that the Council will shortly take a further poll of the Fellows and Members on the question of direct representation of Members, as requested by the last Annual Meeting.

To this an Amendment was moved by Dr. Michael Beverley and seconded by Dr. Arthur Haydon, that the words "but regrets that the Council found itself unable to abide by the result" be omitted, but the Amendment was not carried.

The original Motion by Mr. Joseph Smith was then put and carried.

The following Resolution proposed by Dr. W. G. Dickinson and seconded by Dr. A. S. Morton was carried :—

- II. That this Meeting is of opinion that women when admitted to the Diplomas of the College should have equal rights with men.

The following Resolution proposed by Mr. F. W. Collingwood and seconded by Mr. J. Brindley James was carried :—

- III. That the President and Council of the Royal College of Surgeons be respectfully asked to use their moral influence to obtain some more sufficient title for those who have passed the examinations for the Conjoint Diploma, remembering the importance attached to Degrees to the detriment of holders of the said Diplomas granted by this ancient Corporation in conjunction with the Royal College of Physicians of London.

The following replies to the three Resolutions carried at the Meeting were adopted by the Council, viz. :—

I. The Council regret that their views and those of the majority of the Members, who replied to the Circular addressed to them regarding the admission of women to examination for the Diplomas of the College, are not in accord.

With regard to the suggestion that the Council should take a further poll of the Fellows and Members on the question of the direct representation of Members, the Council adhere to their decision as set forth on p. 7 of the last Annual Report.

II. The Council have from the first signified their intention of proceeding under the Medical Act of 1876, whereby no woman admitted a Fellow or Member would be entitled to take any part in the government, management, or proceedings of the College. The Council see no reason for departing from the course which they decided upon after due and careful consideration.

III. With reference to Resolution No. III. carried at the Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members, the Council once more express the opinion that it is impracticable to obtain a legal right to the title of Doctor of Medicine for any person who does not hold the Degree of M.D. The Council would refer those, who supported the Resolution, to p. 8 of the last Annual Report for information as to the steps, which they have been and are taking with a view to providing Medical Students of London with greater facilities for obtaining Degrees in Medicine.

II. Admission of Women to examination for College Diplomas.

The result of the Poll of the Fellows and Members upon this question was considered by the Council at their Quarterly Meeting in October 1908, and the following Resolutions were carried, viz. :—

(1) That steps be forthwith taken to admit women to the Examinations of the Conjoint Examining Board in England and to the Examination for the Diploma in Public Health.

(2) That women be admitted to the Examinations for the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons, and to the Examinations for the Licence in Dental Surgery.

(3) That a Committee be appointed to prepare a Formula for the alterations in the Bye-Laws necessitated by the adoption of the foregoing Resolutions.

The prescribed steps for making a new Bye-Law were thereupon taken, and in April 1909 the following Bye-Law was made and ordained by the Council, viz. :—

SECT. XXVI.—ADMISSION OF WOMEN.

1. Pursuant to the powers conferred by the Medical Act 1876 and subject to the provisions therein and hereinafter contained, women may be admitted as Members and Fellows of the College and may obtain Diplomas in Dental Surgery on the same terms and conditions as men; and so far as it is necessary to give effect to this Bye-Law words in the Bye-Laws and Regulations of the College which import the masculine gender shall also import the feminine gender and all proper alterations shall be made in the form of the Letters Testimonial, Diplomas, Certificates and Licences granted by the College.

2. Women shall not be eligible as Members of the Council and shall not vote at or take any part in any election of a Member or Members of the Council, or attend any Meeting of Fellows or of Fellows and Members (except Meetings convened for the delivery of Lectures or Orations), or otherwise take any part in the government, management or proceedings of the College.

3. Women shall not be eligible as Members of the Court of Examiners or for any Examinership to which the Council appoint.

In accordance with the requirements of the Charter of 1843 this Bye-Law has been submitted to the Secretary of State for Home Affairs for sanction and ratification.

Objections to the Bye-Law were raised by the "Society of Members" in a letter addressed to the Secretary of State, and a copy of the letter was sent to the Solicitor of the College for the observations of the Council in reply. The letter was as follows, viz. :—

SOCIETY OF MEMBERS OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND.

To the Right Honourable HERBERT GLADSTONE, M.P., &c., Home Secretary.

SIR,

On behalf of this Society we desire to enter an emphatic protest against the mode of admitting women to the Diplomas of this College contemplated by the Council of the College in the Bye-Law (Section XXVI.) now submitted for your approval and sanction.

1. We wish to point out that the proposed procedure under the Medical Act of 1876 (39 and 40 Viet. Ch. 41) is totally gratuitous and unnecessary, since it is equally open to the College Council to admit women in the same manner as all previous changes in the constitution of the College have been made, viz., by means of an amending Charter.

2. The effect of admitting women under this Act of 1876 must be to create an inferior order of Fellows and Members, who are unable to take any part in the government, management, and proceedings of the College.

Although the whole property of the College is vested in the existing Members and they provide a very large proportion of the College income, it is unfortunately at present the case that they have no voice in the government or management of the College. Therefore, the women Members if admitted under the Act of 1876 would not be in much worse case than their male colleagues are at present; but they will be barred for all time by the Act from ultimately acquiring the same position as the men. The case of the women Fellows under the Act would be, however, different. In the Fellows of the College is at present the sole right of electing and sitting upon the Council; they therefore control the entire "government, management, and proceedings." The women Fellows, if this Bye-Law is sanctioned, will be for ever prevented from sharing in this right.

3. We further submit that the adoption of this Act by the Council is a retrograde step in view of the position which women have attained in the profession since 1876. We believe that women are now admitted for degrees and diplomas by all the qualifying bodies except the older Universities (Oxford, Cambridge, and Durham), but, so far as we can learn, none of these bodies have utilized the provisions of this Act, nor made any distinction between their male and female graduates or diplomates. On the contrary, in all the newer Universities provision has been made in the Charters for equalizing the position of sexes.

4. It will be within your knowledge that a Royal Commission has been appointed to consider the whole question of University Education in London. The Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons have appointed delegates to confer with delegates from the University of London, with the object of establishing a scheme for conjoint examinations between these three bodies, in order that a University degree may be obtainable by the average London Student on the same conditions as at the provincial Universities. A joint representation is to be made on behalf of this scheme to the above mentioned Royal Commission. The position of women graduates under this scheme if this Bye-Law is sanctioned will be anomalous and unprecedented. It is well known that at London University there are no disabilities on the ground of sex. Therefore, as regards one of the bodies cooperating in this scheme and granting a conjoint degree, women will be admitted on the same footing as men, but as regards the others they will be placed in an altogether inferior position.

5. At the last General Annual Meeting of Fellows and Members the following resolution was carried nem. con. :—"That this Meeting is of opinion that women when admitted to the Diplomas of the College should have equal rights with men." In par. 1 Sect. XXVI. it is stated that women will be admitted "on the same terms and conditions as men," but in par. 2 totally different conditions are imposed under the Act of 1876.

6. Last year the Council took a poll of the Fellows and Members on the question whether women should be admitted at all. The result of this Poll showed a majority against the proposal. The Council has, therefore, refused to abide by the result of its own Poll. A supplementary Poll was at the same time taken by this Society, asking three questions which the Council refused to include in their Poll. One of these questions was:—"If you desire that women should be admitted, do you consider that they should be admitted under Charter with full Collegiate rights?" To this over 90 per cent. of the Members replying did so in the affirmative.

We therefore ask you not to sanction this Bye-law on the grounds

1. That it is unnecessary.
2. That it places women in an inferior position under an Act not adopted by any other qualifying body.
3. That par. 1 is in flat contradiction to par. 2.
4. That women will be invidiously treated under the scheme for a future London degree; and
5. That the Council have throughout this matter acted directly in the face of the opinion expressed by the Fellows and Members of the College.

Should you require any further information we very respectfully ask you to receive a small deputation from this Society.

Signed on behalf of the Committee of the Society,

May 1st, 1909.

W. G. DICKINSON, } Hon. Secs.
A. S. MORTON, }

The following reply was sent by the Council to the Secretary of State, viz. :—

The Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England thank the Secretary of State for Home Affairs for affording them the opportunity of commenting upon the letter addressed to him by the Honorary Secretaries of the "Society of Members of the Royal College of Surgeons of England," and beg to submit the following observations in reference to the several paragraphs of the letter, viz. :—

1. It is not customary and it is unnecessary for the College to apply for a Charter to effect changes which it has power to effect by Bye-Law. The power to admit women to examination for the Diplomas of the College is given by the Medical Act 1876, and the Bye-Law has been made in accordance with the provisions of that Act.

2. The Medical Act of 1876 clearly contemplates a difference in the corporate standing of men and women admitted to Medical Qualifications, and the Royal College of Surgeons is entitled to give effect to this definite provision of the Legislature.

The property of the College is not vested in the existing Members, but in the Body Corporate. Members upon their admission pay a fee in return for which they receive a Diploma entitling them, in association with the Licence of the Royal College of Physicians, to registration, and to other professional and collegiate privileges, but they pay no further fee or subscription.

If, on petition being made at any future time by the College, the Crown should be advised to grant a Charter giving full corporate rights to women, the fact that the Bye-Law now proposed existed would not place women in any worse position than that in which they are at present.

3. The Royal College of Surgeons is not comparable to a University with its numerous faculties and there is no reason why it should follow the example of such bodies in framing its regulations. It may be pointed out that the course adopted by the Royal College of Surgeons is the same as that adopted by the Royal College of Physicians of London.

4. In the scheme for conjoint examinations by the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons and the University of London it is contemplated that three qualifications should be granted, each of which would be held subject to the laws and regulations in force at the particular institution from which it was derived.

There is nothing anomalous or unprecedented in this arrangement, and indeed it is the position which actually prevails at the present time with regard to those who hold more than one degree or diploma.

5. The quotation in paragraph 5 of the letter from the "Society of Members," with regard to clause 1 of the proposed Bye-Law XXVI, by omitting the important words

“subject to the provisions therein and hereinafter contained,” endeavours to show that the Bye-Law is contradictory in its terms, but these words prevent this being the case.

6. The result of the Poll taken by the Council is set forth in the accompanying document. It will be seen that more than one-third of the Members to whom circulars were sent failed to express any opinion. As regards the supplementary poll mentioned, the Council have no information regarding the number and nature of the replies received, nor, so far as they are aware, have these particulars been published.

III. Proposed Combination with the University of London.

The following Report of the Delegates of the two Colleges appointed to consider a scheme for establishing a system of Conjoint Examinations in accordance with Statute 123 of the University of London has been approved and adopted nem. con. by the Council of this College and by the Comitia of the Royal College of Physicians, viz. :—

REPORT OF DELEGATES.

THE Delegates appointed by the Royal Colleges “to consider and draft a scheme which, if approved by the Royal Colleges, shall be submitted to the Senate of the University of London, with the object of establishing a system of Conjoint Examinations,” beg to report as follows :—Taking into consideration the provisions of Statute 123 of the University of London, the existing conditions of Medical Education in the Metropolis and the undoubted demand for a Degree in Medicine which shall be more accessible to the average London Medical Student, and assuming the existence of a general desire on the part of the University, the Royal Colleges, and the Medical Schools of London to unite in a concerted effort to provide such a Degree, the Delegates are of opinion that there should be little difficulty in arriving at an equitable and advantageous solution of the problem.

Statute 123 of the University of London is as follows :—

“The Senate may make arrangements with the Royal College of Physicians of London and the Royal College of Surgeons of England or either of them to conduct jointly with the Senate examinations in such portions of the subjects included in the course of study for a medical degree as may be agreed upon between the Senate and those Colleges or either of them, and may also make similar arrangements with other corporations and institutions holding professional examinations in subjects included in other courses of study."

At the present time, of the male students who obtain the M.B. or M.D. Degree of the London University, 84 per cent. take the Diplomas of the Royal Colleges, and of the Graduates in Medicine of the University of Cambridge, 71 per cent. take the Diplomas. Of the total number of Diplomates of the Royal Colleges, 20 per cent. take the degree of the University of London, 16 per cent. the degree of the University of Cambridge, and 15 per cent. the degrees of other Universities, English, Foreign or Colonial. It is thus shown that roughly one half of the Diplomates of the two Colleges are also Graduates in Medicine*. It is further evident, that there is a general desire amongst those who intend to take University Degrees or who already possess them to obtain also the Diplomas of the Royal Colleges.

It is desirable that in London the system of teaching and examination should be co-ordinated in such a manner as to reduce the number of examinations.

In London the same representatives of Medicine and Surgery, Midwifery, Anatomy, Physiology and other subjects, teach for the Examinations of the University and of the Royal Colleges. The organisation of Medical Education in London, whether by the University, the Royal College of Physicians, or the Royal College of Surgeons, is largely controlled by the same individuals. Yet for the University and for the Royal Colleges there are separate Boards of Examiners in all branches of the curriculum, separate examinations involving considerable expense, and a re-examination of the student in the same subjects, frequently within a few months.

* During the four years 1903-1906 :—

(1) Of Bachelors and Doctors of Medicine in the University of London Calendar for 1907-8 there are respectively 365 and 164 male Graduates who obtained their Degrees during these years. Of such Graduates 311 (85·2 per cent.) and 135 (82·3 per cent.) were at the time, or became subsequently, Diplomates of the Royal Colleges. Therefore of the total male Graduates in Medicine, i. e. 529, 446 or 84·3 per cent. are also Diplomates of the Royal Colleges.

(2) Of 253 men who obtained the Degree of M.B. of the University of Cambridge, 181 or 71·5 per cent. hold the Diplomas of L.R.C.P. and M.R.C.S.

(3) Of 1704 candidates who obtained the Diplomas of L.R.C.P. and M.R.C.S., 885 or 51·9 per cent. are also Graduates of, or Candidates for, the Degrees in Medicine of the following Universities:—

- (a) Cambridge, 274 or 16·1 per cent.
- (b) London, 347 or 20·4 per cent.
- (c) Other English Universities, 119 or 7 per cent.
- (d) Irish and Scotch Universities, 17 or ·9 per cent.
- (e) Indian and Colonial, 103 or 6 per cent.
- (f) Foreign Universities, 25 or 1·5 per cent.

The general character of the examinations and the methods of conducting them by the University and by the Royal Colleges are very similar.

The University makes use of the Examination Hall of the Royal Colleges for the Intermediate M.B. examination, for the viva voce examinations in Medicine, Midwifery, Forensic Medicine, Public Health, for the Clinical Examination in Surgery and the examination in Surgical Anatomy and Apparatus for the Final M.B., B.S., as well as for part of the M.S. Degree. The rooms of the Royal College of Surgeons and preparations from the Hunterian Museum are placed at the disposal of the University for the pathological part of the Final Examination. The instruments, specimens, and other apparatus of the Conjoint Board are also utilised, and the officials of the Board assist to a considerable extent in the arrangements for some of these University examinations.

In considering such a scheme the Delegates have taken as a basis of their deliberations the following principles :—

(a) That the University should retain all its existing rights as to the granting of Degrees, but should consent to exercise them as regards Pass Degrees conjointly with the Royal Colleges so far as those students are concerned who shall have spent not less than four years in study at London Medical Schools and Hospitals and who shall have complied with such conditions as the University and the Royal Colleges may determine.

It is assumed that the University will continue to grant, independently of the Royal Colleges, Degrees in Medicine and Surgery which might be called Honours Degrees. The views of those who maintain that the present Degrees of the University of London are of an Honour's standard would thus be met.

(b) That the Royal Colleges should retain all their existing rights, to grant Diplomas to those who (1) are not eligible under the foregoing conditions; or (2) do not desire to come under such conditions.

It is thus assumed that the Royal Colleges will continue to admit to examination for their Diplomas Candidates from other Universities, Home, Foreign and Colonial, as well as London medical students who are not students of the London University.

(c) That the Royal Colleges should be associated with the University in conducting the Preliminary Scientific, Intermediate, and Final Examinations for the Pass Degree (M.B., B.S., M.D.).

This arrangement will secure :—

- (1) That the average London Student will be able to obtain the Degree of Doctor of Medicine.
- (2) That Medical Education in London will become more systematised.

- (3) That there will be a reduction in the number of examinations to be passed by the student desiring to take a Degree and the Diplomas.
- (4) That a larger proportion of students would be encouraged to avail themselves of the great opportunities of clinical study afforded by the Hospitals of London.
- (5) That the University and the Royal Colleges acting together with the same Staff and equipment would be able to reduce the expenditure on examinations.

The Delegates beg to state that, should the principle of an association between the University and the Royal Colleges be accepted, they are prepared to bring forward a working scheme for carrying the proposal into effect.

In view, however, of the fact that since the appointment of the Delegates, the Senate of the University has asked for a Royal Commission, the Delegates beg to recommend that the Royal Colleges should take steps to secure the representation of their views on the subject of the present reference before any Royal Commission which may be appointed, and should at a fitting time ask the University to appoint Delegates to discuss this question with the Delegates of the Royal Colleges, so that if possible they may agree upon a joint representation to the Royal Commission.

Since the reception of this Report a Royal Commission on University Education in London has been appointed, and the College will be afforded the opportunity of giving evidence before the Commissioners at some date in 1910.

In the meantime the Royal Colleges have approached the University of London, and on the 2nd July 1909 the Delegates of the Royal Colleges met Representatives of the University and placed the proposed scheme for combination before them.

IV. The Administration of Anæsthetics.

In December 1908 a letter was received from the Registrar of the General Medical Council inquiring, by direction of that Council, how far this College has given effect to Recommendation No. IV. of the Council, communicated to the College in June 1907, "by requiring Students to produce evidence of having received practical instruction in the Administration of Anæsthetics."

To this communication the following reply was sent:—

That the General Medical Council be informed that the desirability of making practical instruction in the administration of Anæsthetics a compulsory part of the Medical Curriculum was recognised by the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England in 1901, and that in December of that year, in conjunction with the Royal College of Physicians, a regulation was adopted requiring a candidate before admission to the Final Examination to produce a certificate "of having received, at a recognised Medical School and Hospital, instruction in the administration of Anæsthetics to the satisfaction of his Teachers," and that, moreover, questions on the subject are from time to time put to candidates by the Examiners of the College.

That the Council trust the General Medical Council will be successful in their present endeavour to induce other Examining Bodies to adopt a regulation which has long been in force at the English Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons.

Upon the recommendation of the Board of Examiners in Dental Surgery it has been determined to also require that candidates for the Licence in Dental Surgery of the College shall be instructed in the administration of anæsthetics, and all candidates for the Licence, who enter at a recognised Dental Hospital or School on or after the 1st of October next, will be required to produce a certificate "of having attended at a recognised Dental Hospital and School a course of practical instruction in the administration of such anæsthetics as are in common use in Dental Surgery."

V. Central Midwives Board.

Mr. J. Ward Cousins submits the following Report regarding the proceedings of the Central Midwives Board:—

Riversdale,
Kent Road, Portsmouth.
March 1909.

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN,

I have the honour to present to you the sixth report of the transactions of the Central Midwives Board.

The number of women now on the Midwives Roll amounts to twenty-six thousand eight hundred and eighty-four. The number of these who have passed the Central Midwives Board's examination is five thousand nine hundred and thirty-four, and the remainder of the women have been enrolled in virtue of other certificates which have been approved by the Central Midwives Board, or have claimed to be certified after producing evidence of having practised as midwives one year before the Act came into operation. A large number of these women have had very little training, and I am glad to report that already in some large centres means have been provided to assist them to advance in both knowledge and efficiency.

During the past year six Examinations have been held in London and three in each of the provincial centres:—

The Board has now recognised seventy-four Training Schools. The number of examiners appointed amounts to fifty, and the number of teachers to ninety-nine.

The investigation of charges brought against midwives for disobeying the rules or for other misconduct forms an important part of the duties of the Central Midwives Board. The number of cases reported to the Board by the local supervising authorities throughout the country during the past year is exhibited in the following table:—

The total number of penal cases heard by the Board is ninety-two.

The Act came into operation on the 1st of April, 1903, and up to the present time the results have been very unsatisfactory. Its provisions for regulating and restricting the practice of midwives were intended to overcome as far as possible the special dangers of childbirth, and it is certain that the risks of parturition can be greatly reduced by cleanliness and careful preparation of the home before labour, by aseptic treatment during labour, and by regular and skilful treatment after labour. Still, it is a fact that the number of deaths from septic diseases in private houses throughout England and Wales has remained nearly the same for several years; on the other hand, these same disorders very rarely happen to patients in maternity institutions, where they are carefully surrounded by every preventive measure and have all the advantages of modern treatment.

The recent circular of the Local Government Board has not proved to be a satisfactory solution of the inadequate security for the payment of medical practitioners who are summoned to assist certified midwives. In all parts of the country serious friction and trouble still continue, and it is quite impossible for the provisions of the Act to be successfully carried out until some guarantee has been arranged to secure fair and definite remuneration.

But there are other causes of failure. The Central Midwives Board has not yet obtained full co-operation and assistance from many local supervising authorities, and the official returns forwarded from many places have been both irregular and incomplete. The Board has found it impossible to ascertain the actual number of certified midwives engaged in practice, and also to prepare a satisfactory report of the general working of the Act. The Roll is only an imperfect register, and it cannot be kept free from error in consequence of the frequent changes which occur, and also from imperfect local supervision.

Up to the present time no adequate provision has been made for the urgent duties which will devolve upon certified midwives after the 1st of April, 1910, when no woman unless certified under the Act will be permitted to attend for gain women in childbirth, except under the direction of a qualified medical practitioner. Now this urgent matter demands speedy adjustment, and until settled it will imperil the lives of many poor women in rural districts, and also often place the certified midwives in positions of extreme perplexity.

This, however, is not a mere question of supply, but it involves the possibility of obtaining a living wage. Midwives ought to earn enough to enable them to live in comfort, but this cannot be anticipated in consequence of the limited number of births and the smallness of the fees. To meet these emergencies it has already been suggested by the Central Midwives Board that an effort should be made to obtain a government grant for village midwives. The local supervising Authorities in many parts of the country feel their responsibility in this perplexity. It is quite certain that a shortage of midwives must arise in 1910, after the Act comes into full operation; but for the present it is impossible to venture upon any definite statement.

From the facts briefly mentioned in this report, it must be evident that the Midwives Act of 1902 can never be effectually worked without considerable alteration. The experience of the past clearly indicates the necessity for amendments in the following direction:—(1) The County Councils and County Borough Councils should be granted power for defraying all expenses incurred by the local supervising Authorities in the discharge of their duties; (2) the payment of medical men summoned by certified midwives should be regulated by a definite scale suitable to the local circumstances and the services rendered; (3) some provision ought to be introduced for securing better co-operation between the local supervising Authorities and the Central Midwives Board.

During the past year the Board has given earnest attention to all the difficulties which have arisen in the administration of the Act, and has forwarded to the Privy Council many communications respecting the urgent necessity for speedy amendment. Soon all the details respecting the operation of this measure throughout the Country will be submitted to the Departmental Committee recently appointed by the Government; and there is every reason to hope that the inquiry will be followed by the Privy Council initiating such legislative changes as will remove the defects and add to the efficiency of the Midwives Act of 1902.

In conclusion, I feel quite confident that when the remodelled Act comes into operation a life-saving boon will be conferred upon the poor women of our Country; the certified midwives everywhere will be able to obtain prompt help in the discharge of their responsible duties; and medical men in every locality will be found ready to give assistance whenever their services are required by trained women who can detect the approach of danger and are capable of following well-defined regulations.

I am,

Mr. President and Gentlemen,

Yours very faithfully,

JOHN WARD COUSINS.

At the Meeting of the Council in April the expiration of the term of office of Mr. J. Ward Cousins as the Representative of the College on the Central Midwives Board was announced and the following Resolution was unanimously adopted, viz. :—

That the best thanks of the Council be and are hereby given to Mr. Ward Cousins for his very efficient services as the Representative of the College on the Central Midwives Board during the past six years.

Mr. C. H. Golding-Bird was then appointed the Representative of the College on the Board in the vacancy occasioned by the retirement of Mr. Ward Cousins.

VI. Restoration to Membership.

Mr. Percival Humble Watson of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, who was removed from being a Member of the College in July 1905 in consequence of a charge of professional misconduct based upon a degree of the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice, has been restored to the Membership.

Mr. Watson submitted a Petition in support of his application for restoration signed by fifteen Practitioners of Medicine and Surgery in Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

VII. Removal of Licentiate in Dental Surgery.

The name of Stanley Bennett Wakefield, having been removed from the Dentists' Register by order of the General Medical Council, has been removed from the List of Licentiates in Dental Surgery of this College in pursuance of Section 13 of the Dentists' Act which provides that "any name erased from the register in pursuance of this section shall also be erased from the list of licentiates in dental surgery or dentistry of the medical authority of which such person is a licentiate."

S. B. Wakefield had been convicted at Marlborough Street Police Court of illegal pawning, and the evidence submitted to the General Medical Council also showed that he had made a false claim for payment for professional services.

VIII. Jacksonian Prize.

The Jacksonian Prize for the year 1908 has been awarded to Mr. John Percy Lockhart Mummery, F.R.C.S., of Cavendish Place, for his essay on "The Pathology and Treatment of those Conditions and Diseases of the Colon which are relievably by Operative Measures."

The subject for the year 1910 is "Tuberculous Disease of the Urinary Bladder and Male Genital Organs."

IX. John Tomes Prize.

The John Tomes Prize for the period 1906-1908 has been awarded to Mr. Arthur Swayne Underwood, a Member and Licentiate in Dental Surgery of the College, for his original and other Scientific work on Dental Anatomy, Surgery, and Pathology.

This is the fourth award of the Prize.

X. Blane Medals.

The Sir Gilbert Blane Medals have been awarded to Staff-Surgeon Charles Rowley Nicholson, M.R.C.S., H.M.S. 'Egmont,' 1906-7, and Staff-Surgeon Arthur William Bligh Livesay, H.M.S. 'Bonaventure,' 1907.

XI. Begley Studentship.

Mr. John Robert Douglas Webb, Undergraduate of the University of Liverpool, has been appointed Begley Student in pursuance of a Report from the Examiners in Anatomy under the Conjoint Examining Board regarding the result of the Examination completed on the 6th April, 1909.

This is the second appointment to the Studentship, which is tenable for three years with an annual stipend of £20.

XII. Visit of T.R.H. The Prince and Princess of Wales.

At a Meeting of the Council on February 11th, 1909, His Royal Highness George Frederick Ernest Albert, Prince of Wales, was unanimously elected an Honorary Fellow of the College, and the President stated that His Royal Highness and the Princess of Wales would honour the College with their presence at the delivery of the Hunterian Oration on February 15th.

The President then called upon the Secretary to read the Minute of the Council's Proceedings on February 11th, 1909, electing

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales an Honorary Fellow of the College, and the Minute having been read the President handed to His Royal Highness a Diploma on vellum engraved with the College Arms and impressed with the College Seal.

The Prince, having accepted the Diploma, signed the Roll of Honorary Fellows, and was invested with the robe of Fellowship.

The Prince and Princess were then conducted by the President and Vice-Presidents to the Theatre, and heard the Hunterian Oration delivered by the President, Mr. Henry Morris.

On the conclusion of the Oration the Prince and Princess were conducted back to the Secretary's Office, where tea was served for Their Royal Highnesses and the specially invited Guests, including Adeline, Duchess of Bedford, Lady Hyde, Lady Mary Fitzalan Howard, the Marquess of Bath, the Earl of Rosebery, Sir James and Lady Reid, Sir R. Douglas Powell, P.R.C.P., Sir Frederick Treves, Sergeant-Surgeon to the King, Sir Thomas Smith, Hon. Sergeant-Surgeon to the King, Sir R. Havelock Charles, and Mrs. Pearce Gould.

Their Royal Highnesses, accompanied by Sir Frederick Treves, paid a further visit to the College on March 10th, and having been received by the President, Conservator of the Museum, and Secretary, were conducted over the Museum.

XVI. Address to Cambridge University.

The Centenary of Charles Darwin's birth and the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of the "Origin of Species" were commemorated by the University of Cambridge in June 1909, and the President, Sir Henry Morris, Bart., attended as the Representative of the College, and presented the following address, viz. :--

AN ADDRESS FROM THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND TO
THE CHANCELLOR, MASTERS AND SCHOLARS
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

THE COUNCIL, FELLOWS, AND MEMBERS OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND experience in a very special degree a deep sense of gratification in having been honoured by an invitation to send a delegate to the Commemoration by your University of the Centenary of CHARLES DARWIN'S birth and the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of his great Epoch-marking work "On the Origin of Species by means of Natural Selection, or the Preservation of Favoured Races in the Struggle for Life."

We feel a peculiar, indeed an almost personal and certainly a professional pride in taking part with your great Commonwealth of learning and knowledge as a whole, and with Christ's College and the Faculty of Natural Sciences in particular, in this "In Memoriam" celebration of one who in so conspicuous and brilliant a manner added lustre to your great and ancient University.

The numerous, and intimate personal and family associations of Charles Darwin with the University of Cambridge are equalled by similar connections with the profession of Medicine. We are mindful that his grandfather the celebrated scientist and poet, Dr. Erasmus Darwin, was a physician at Lichfield, and afterwards at Derby; that his father was a very successful medical practitioner at Shrewsbury; that his only brother was a Bachelor of Medicine of Cambridge, and that his paternal uncle and he himself were intended for the medical profession and actually studied physic at the University of Edinburgh.

The sciences to which Charles Darwin devoted his life and on which he built his great generalizations are, some of them, ancillary to medicine; and as developed and interpreted by him, they transfigured many of the doctrines and classifications of disease, illumined with new conceptions pathology as well as biology, and opened up fresh avenues of thought and new pathways of investigation leading to a more correct and scientific knowledge and practice of the resources of surgery.

To the Museum of our College Charles Darwin presented about thirty valuable specimens of fossil mammalia collected by him during the voyage of the 'Beagle,' a fact which seems to be forgotten, or at least is not generally known.

To the Students of Medicine, as well as to the Students of General Biology, Darwin has left on record a caution of the utmost importance, and at no period more than at the present time have they had greater need to be reminded of it.

He tells in his Autobiographical recollections how his neglect of dissecting when a student in Edinburgh "proved one of the greatest evils of my life"; how the anatomical knowledge and aptitude he would have gained by the practice of dissection would have been invaluable for all his future work; and how the want of these, and his incapacity to draw, had been an "irremediable evil," and that "a great pile of manuscript" which he had made during the voyage of the 'Beagle' had in consequence "proved almost useless."

Charles Darwin esteemed it a high honour to have been elected an honorary member of the Royal Medical Society of Edinburgh, and an original honorary member of the Physiological Society which was founded in London in 1876.

By his efforts to forward legislation on the question of vivisection, by his private communications to physiologists and others, and by his letters to the Editor of 'The Times' "on the right of experimenting on living animals," he showed the righteousness as well as the wisdom of his judgment by denouncing the practice of vivisection for "mere damnable and detestable curiosity," whilst he endeavoured to obtain "justice to science," and gave proof of his willingness to bear his "share of the abuse poured in so atrocious a manner on all physiologists." Though in his own words "Hippocrates had taken the wind out of my sails," though when informed of the views on Pangenesis of this Philosopher of Antiquity, Charles Darwin admitted they seemed almost identical with his own, and although theories somewhat akin to those of the "Origin of Species" had been advanced by Buffon, Lamarek, and Erasmus Darwin, and the principle of Natural Selection had been enunciated by Dr. Wells and Mr. Matthew, yet the central hypothesis of the "Origin of Species" came in 1859 as a revelation to the historians of Scientific ideas as well as to all the biological specialists then living. Charles Darwin knew that he was regarded as "the greatest revolutionist in natural history of this, if not all centuries," and he naturally yearned for some half dozen great and sound scientists to accept his views, for then he would have no fear of their ultimate success.

And whose were the opinions he most especially valued and "longed to learn"? They were those of J. D. Hooker, Charles Lyell, Huxley, Richard Owen, W. B. Carpenter, Milne-Edwards, and Asa Gray; every one of whom except Sir Charles Lyell had received a medical education, and was the holder of a Medical Degree or other medical qualification. Two of them, Huxley and Owen, had been intimately associated with the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Huxley as a Member of the College and Hunterian Professor, and Owen as a Member and Fellow of the College and Hunterian Professor and Conservator of the Hunterian Museum for many years. Hooker and Huxley were the most sympathetic exponents and staunchest champions of the Darwinian principles, and if Owen never actually expressed a definite opinion of Darwinism, he at least inclined to the theory of "Natural Selection," and conduced to the writing of a letter in which Charles Darwin evinced a candour, a modesty, a tolerance of disagreement, and an indifference to the claims of priority which so supremely characterized him throughout his whole scientific career.

It is interesting to us who are connected with the College of Surgeons to re-call that in 1859 Owen delivered the Rede Lecture at Cambridge—his subject being the "Classification of Mammalia"—and that he then received the degree LL.D., thus becoming the recipient of the first honorary degree ever conferred by your University. Also in the same year the remains of John Hunter, the great founder of Scientific Surgery, the fruits of whose labours will for all time be the chief glory of our College, were removed from the vaults of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields to Westminster Abbey. If instead of the re-interment of the body—lifeless for sixty-six years—Hunter could have been restored to life in this world, it is only reasonable to conclude from the opinions expressed in several of his writings that he would have greeted the "Origin of Species" with great delight, and would have given it the readiest and fullest acceptance.

For these amongst other more general reasons does our College, with special zest and gladness, beg to offer to the University our best wishes for the success of these Memorial Ceremonials, and to thank her for affording us the pleasure and satisfaction of joining with the representatives of the liberal Arts and Sciences from all parts of the world in this tribute of honour to the name and fame of one of her most illustrious sons.

HENRY MORRIS,
President.

XVII. The Examination Hall.

The sale of the Examination Hall to the Institution of Electrical Engineers was completed on June 1, 1909, but arrangements have been made, whereby the Examinations of the Royal Colleges will continue to be conducted at the Examination Hall for some time, sufficient accommodation having been leased from the Institution for three years from June 1, 1909, with option of renewal on a yearly tenancy.

A site for a new Examination Hall has been acquired in Queen Square, Bloomsbury, comprising the houses Nos. 8, 9, 10, and 11, the freeholds and leaseholds of which the Royal Colleges have agreed to purchase for £23,200. It has also been necessary to purchase the furniture in the several houses, and the net cost of this is not likely to exceed £1000.

XVIII. Finance.

INCOME.

The gross Income of the College for the past year amounts to £25,401, an increase of £427 on the gross Income of the previous year.

There is an increase of £109 in the gross Receipts from the Conjoint Examining Board in respect of the Membership and of £70 in respect of the Diploma in Public Health, as regards the share apportioned to this College. There is also an increase of £149 in the Fellowship Fees and of £165 in the Fees for the Licence in Dental Surgery.

The amount received by this College from Hire of Rooms at the Examination Hall is £208 less.

Under Receipts from Investments there is an increase of £65 in dividends on the General Funds, and of £22 in dividends on Trust Funds. There is also an increase of £8 in Rents and £15 in Incidental Receipts.

EXPENDITURE.

The Expenditure of the College for the past year amounts to £23,076, an increase of £1895 on the Expenditure of the previous year.

As regards the share of expenditure borne by this College under the Conjoint Examining Board, there is an increase of £303 in the fees paid to Examiners and of £357 in the expenses at the Examination Hall. This latter increase is mainly due to the inclusion in the year's accounts of the proportion of rent and taxes due up to the date of the completion of the sale of the Examination Hall.

In the cost of the other Examinations there are small increases of £21 in the case of the Fellowship, £59 in the Dental and £51 in the Public Health.

An increase of £171 is shown in the General Working Expenses of the College, and the increase would have been larger to the extent of £238, if sundry examination expenses formerly included under this head had not been separated and shown in the Printed Accounts under B. 5. The difference is mainly due to an increase of £349 under Repairs, Painting and Cleaning, and of £100 under Furniture and Fittings.

The most noticeable increase occurs under Special Expenses of the Museum. Here there is a difference of £1000 largely attributable to an expenditure of £663 on furniture and fittings. The accounts for "Specimens, Spirit, Glass, &c." "Miscellaneous Items," and "Salaries and Wages" are also heavier. The Salaries' account was, however, lower than the normal amount in 1907-1908 owing to the office of Conservator having been temporarily vacant.

The Special Expenses of the Library show little variation, and as in the previous year amount to over £1600.

The expenses classed under the head of Extraordinary Expenditure amount to £177.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The balance of Income over Expenditure amounts this year to £2325, and during the year £2200 Canada 3 per cent. Inscribed Stock has been purchased with the surplus from the Income and Expenditure Account.

A nett sum of £24,512 was realised by this College from the sale of the Examination Hall Buildings and Lease. Of this sum £21,863 has been invested in Colonial Inscribed Stocks and Metropolitan Water Board Stock, £1250 has been used in payment of the deposit on the cost of the Leases and Freeholds in Queen Square purchased as a site for a new Examination Hall, and the balance of £1399 is being held in reserve for further payments on account of this property which it will shortly be necessary to meet.

The original cost to this College of the Examination Hall Buildings amounted to £30,251, and when from this has been deducted £1736, the share of the Sinking Fund transferred to the College, the loss on the original cost only amounts to £4000. It will thus be seen that a satisfactory price has been obtained, if allowance is made for depreciation of the Buildings during some twenty-two years.

THE MUSEUM.

THE Hunterian Collection, which forms the basis, and still a large proportion, of the contents of the present Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, was originally arranged in a building which its Founder, John Hunter, erected for it in 1784, behind his house in Leicester Square.

John Hunter died October 16th, 1793, aged 65. By his will he directed the Museum to be offered in the first instance to the British Government, on such terms as might be considered reasonable, and in case of refusal to be sold in one lot, either to some foreign state, or as his executors might think proper.

In the year 1799 Parliament voted the sum of £15,000 for the Museum, and an offer of it being made to the Corporation of Surgeons, it was accepted on the terms proposed by Government*.

In 1806 the sum of £15,000 was voted by Parliament in aid of the erection of an edifice for the display and arrangement of the Hunterian Collection; a second grant of £12,500 was subsequently voted, and upwards of £21,000 having been supplied from the funds of the College, the building was completed in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, in which the Museum was opened for the inspection of visitors in the year 1813.

In consequence of the large number of additions, this building became too small for the adequate display and arrangement of its contents; and more space being at the same time required for the rapidly increasing Library, the greater portion of the present building was erected, wholly at the expense of the College, in 1835, at

* The following are the Terms and Conditions on which the Hunterian Collection, purchased by Parliament, was delivered to the late Corporation of Surgeons; which Corporation having become dissolved, the Members thereof were re-incorporated by Charter, dated the 22nd day of March, 1800, under the Title of The Royal College of Surgeons in London:—

1st. The Collection shall be open Four Hours in the Forenoon of two days every week for Inspection and Consultation of the Fellows of the College of Physicians, the Members of the Company of Surgeons and Persons properly introduced by them; a Catalogue of the Preparations, and a proper Person to explain it, being at those times always in the Room.

† 2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twenty-four in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by the preparations, shall be given every year by some Member of the Company.

3rd. That the Preparations shall be kept in a state of Preservation, and the Collection in as perfect a state as possible, at the Expense of the Corporation of Surgeons, subject to the annual Inspection and Superintendence of the Trustees.

4th. That there shall be a Board of Trustees, to consist of sixteen (increased to seventeen by the Lords of the Treasury in 1856) Members, by virtue of their Public Offices, and of fourteen others, to be appointed, in the first instance, by the Lords of the Treasury, and afterwards to be elected, as Vacancies may happen, by a Majority of the remaining Trustees.

5th. That the Museum shall always be open for the Inspection of all or any of the said Trustees, who are to take care that the Corporation of Surgeons perform their Engagements respecting the said Collection. That a day be appointed for the annual Inspection of the Museum, by the Trustees acting collectively as a Board; and that they are also to have quarterly Meetings, for the transacting of any Business relative to the Museum, and for the filling up of such Vacancies as may happen in the number of the Trustees; and that the Corporation of Surgeons shall engage some person to officiate as Secretary to the Board upon such occasions, and to issue previous Notice to the Members, in which he is to state particularly whether any Vacancies are to be filled up by new Elections.

† This Clause was altered by the Lords of the Treasury in 1894, to the following, viz. :—

2nd. That one Course of Lectures, not less than twelve in number, on Comparative Anatomy and other subjects, illustrated by preparations from the Hunterian Collection and the other contents of the Museum, shall be given every year by Fellows or Members of the College.

a cost of about £40,000, and the Hunterian and Collegiate Collections were re-arranged in what are now termed Rooms Nos. III. and IV., which were opened for the inspection of visitors in 1836.

Further enlargement of the building having become necessary by the continued increase of the Collection, the College, in 1847, purchased the extensive premises of Mr. Alderman Copeland, in Portugal Street, for the sum of £16,000, and in 1852 proceeded to the erection of Room No. V., at the expense of £25,000, Parliament granting £15,000 in aid thereof. The rearrangement of the specimens was completed, and the additional portion of the building opened to visitors in 1855. The Collection still continuing to increase and more space having again become necessary, the College in 1888 determined to erect, at a cost of £19,000, two new Museums on the western side of the old structure. These buildings, called Rooms Nos. I. and II., were completed in 1891. Besides giving greater accommodation for the Collection in general they have also provided space for the display of photographs and drawings illustrating Diseases.

The Hunterian Collection was estimated to consist of 13,682 specimens, distributed under the following heads:—

Physiological Department, or Normal Structures.

Physiological preparations in spirit	3745
Osteological preparations	965
Dry do.	617
Zoological do.	1968
Fossils:—
Vertebrate	1215
Invertebrate	2202
Plants	292

Pathological Department, or Abnormal Structures.

Preparations in spirit	1084
Dry preparations (including bones)	625
Calculi and conerctions	536
Monsters and Malformations	218
Microscopic preparations	215

Of the additions by which the size and value of the Collection have been so materially increased since it came into the possession of the College, very many have been presented by Fellows and Members of the College, and other persons interested in scientific pursuits. Among the largest contributions from this source have been the Collection, consisting of 847 specimens, presented in 1811 by Sir William Blizard; a valuable series of Pathological specimens presented in 1851 by Sir Stephen L. Hammick; and a Collection, presented in 1905 by Lt.-Colonel Sir Richard Havelock Charles, I.M.S., K.C.V.O., consisting of 248 skulls, and other specimens, representative of many of the Castes and Tribes of India. At the same time the Council of the College have availed themselves of various opportunities as they have occurred to purchase specimens of interest, especially at the dispersion of private anatomical and pathological museums, as that of Sir A. Lever in 1806, of Mr. Joshua Brookes in 1828, of Mr. Heaviside in 1829, Mr. Langstaff in 1835, Mr. South in the same year, Mr. Howship and Mr. Taunton in 1841, Mr. Liston in 1842, Mr. Walker in 1843, and, deserving of especial mention on account of the great number and value of the specimens acquired, those of Sir Astley Cooper in 1843 and Dr. Barnard Davis in 1880.

The Histological Collection, of which the 215 Hunterian specimens (prepared by Hewson) constitute the nucleus, was chiefly formed by the late Professor Quekett, with considerable additions by purchase from Dr. Tweedy J. Todd, Mr. Nasmyth, and Professor Lenhossek. It now contains upwards of 12,000 specimens, all arranged and catalogued so as to be readily available for reference.

The superintendence of the Museum is confided by the Council of the College to a Committee of its Members, which Committee has held nine meetings during the past year.

A summary of the progress made in the preservation, arrangement, and augmentation of the Collection will be found in the following Report.

CONSERVATOR'S REPORT.

*Adoption of a
New Form of Catalogue.*

IN summing up the work in the Museum for the past year the chief place must be given to the alterations which are being effected in the system of cataloguing and labelling its contents. After a prolonged enquiry the Museum Committee recommended the adoption of the card form of catalogue, that form having many advantages over the book form at present in use. After numerous preliminary experiments, during which several technical difficulties had to be overcome, was resolved to apply the card system in the following manner:—(1) Each specimen to be furnished with its own explanatory card, these cards being contained in specially designed boxes attached to each case, or each adjacent pair of cases, throughout the Museum, so that visitors may find at hand a full history and explanation of the specimens. This series of cards, known technically as the "case catalogue," has been applied to various sections of the museum, 30 boxes being now in use. Altogether about 500 boxes and 55,000 cards will be required to complete the "case catalogue." (2) To place in the hall of the museum a double series of cards, known technically as the "hall catalogue," which will serve the same purposes for the museum as the "index" and "list of contents" do for a book. In the "index series" of cards a visitor will find a full list of the number and situation in the museum of all the specimens illustrating the subject of his enquiry. Under "Actinomycosis," for instance, he will find references to the various specimens in all parts of the pathological section of the museum illustrating this disease; under "Appendix" he will be able to discover at once all the specimens illustrating the development, anatomy, and diseases of this structure. It is estimated that the "index series" will involve the preparation of 250,000 cards, an enormous labour, but one which will greatly increase the utility of the Museum. In the "contents series" of the hall catalogue duplicates of the cards of the "case catalogue" will be arranged systematically, so that, from this series, the visitor may learn the number and the kind of specimens illustrating each section of the museum collection. The number of cards in the "contents series" will equal the number of specimens in the museum—at present, about 55,000. Four cabinets have been designed by Mr. E. C. Frere, A.R.I.B.A., to contain the hall catalogue, two for the “contents” series and two for the “index” series. The final form given to these cabinets, which are now almost finished, was the result of many experiments and enquiries. To accommodate the cabinets in the hall of the museum the various casts and busts, hitherto shown there, have been removed to their proper places in the collection, while the present arrangement of windows in the hall has been retained to provide wall space for the cabinets.

The Conservator wishes to acknowledge the ingenuity and resource shown by William Finery in carrying out the new system of cataloguing.

*Numbering
and Labelling.*

Owing to the rapid growth of certain sections of the Museum it was found necessary to introduce a system of numbering the specimens which will permit of unlimited additions to be made at any point in the collection without disturbing pre-existing numbers. The method adopted is a modification of the decimal system; it has now been applied to several sections of the Museum with satisfactory results. Some progress has also been made with the systematic labelling of the contents of the Museum. Several cases in the osteological, pathological and physiological sections are finished, the method now employed being modified and improved as the result of further experience.

*Alterations in the Organization and Equipment
of the Museum.*

During the past year several alterations have been effected in the organization and equipment of the Museum. One of the upper work-rooms, originally designed for a research laboratory, has been utilized for the double purpose of preparing the card-catalogue and of storing the stock of book catalogues. The collection of microscopic preparations has been moved from a side-room off the Museum to two small well lighted rooms in the upper part of the building, where the preparations can be conveniently examined. The new microscopic rooms, which have been redecorated and refurnished, are under the charge of the Assistant Conservator. The old microscopic room is being fitted out with cases in which it is proposed to exhibit, duly arranged and catalogued, a considerable number of specimens of antiquarian and historical interest at present scattered in odd rooms and corners of the museum. Two cases in the north end of Room III are being remodelled for the better display of the invertebrate series of specimens. The anatomical plates prepared in Padua in 1646 under the direction of John Evelyn, F.R.S., the diarist, and which are the oldest anatomical preparations in this country, with the exception of the “Harvey plates” in the Royal College of Physicians, have been removed from the stair-case at the south end of Room III, properly mounted and placed with the modern anatomical preparations in Room II. Two important additions have been made to the equipment of the articulator's department, viz., a mechanically driven saw for the accurate preparation of large sections, and a dental engine.

A collection of stuffed animals.

In 1835 all the stuffed specimens in the Hunterian Collection were presented to the British Museum, such preparations being considered as unsuitable for the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. There still remained stored in the basement of the Museum a small collection of stuffed animals, some forty in all. These specimens have been identified during the present year as part of the purchases made by the College in 1806 at the sale of the collection made by Sir Ashton Lever in the later decades of the 18th century. These specimens, merely of historical interest, were offered to, and finally accepted by, the authorities of the British Museum with the exception of a pea-hen, showing the male plumage, which is described by Hunter in his paper "On an extraordinary pheasant." This specimen has been placed in the College Museum.

Collection illustrating diseases of the Eye.

Mr. J. Herbert Parsons, F.R.C.S., has been appointed by the Council to revise and extend the collection of specimens illustrating injuries and diseases of the eye and to prepare a new catalogue of them. The present catalogue was written by Dr. Bader in 1852. Most of the specimens in this section of the Museum were prepared at that time and are now imperfectly preserved. It is also proposed that the collection, at present shown in two parts of the Museum, should be grouped into one section.

Collection of Entozoa.

Dr. R. T. Leiper, of the Tropical School of Medicine, has been requested by the Council to undertake the revision and re-cataloguing of the collection of Entozoa. He has already made considerable progress with this work. The present catalogue of Entozoa was prepared by Dr. Cobbold in 1866.

Loan of specimens to Exhibitions.

The collection of specimens shown at the Franco-British Exhibition was safely returned. The Diploma of the Grand Prize was awarded to this exhibit. Specimens from the Museum, prepared by Mr. Shattock, were sent to the International Tuberculosis Congress held in Washington in 1908, a gold medal being awarded to the British section of the collection of specimens there shown. Of that collection the specimens from the College Museum formed an important part. Specimens presented to the Museum by Darwin have been sent on loan to the British Museum (Natural History) to be placed on exhibition there in connection with the celebration of the centenary of Darwin's birth. Specimens have also been sent to the Exhibition given in Whitechapel under the auspices of the National Association for the Prevention of Consumption.

The Nubian Pathological Collection.

The presentation of the extensive collection of pathological specimens from Ancient Nubia by the Survey Department of the Egyptian Government was mentioned in the last annual report, but the work of arranging and cataloguing the collection in the Museum has been carried out during the present year by Mr. Shattock. The collection has been placed in one of the floor-cases in Room III, to the right of Hunter's statue, and provided with a type-written card-catalogue.

The data employed for the preparation of the catalogue were supplied by Dr. F. Wood-Jones, who, under the direction of Professor Elliot Smith, acted as Anthropologist to the Nubian Archæological Survey. The collection represents the most extensive contribution yet made to the pathology of prehistoric races.

The Collection of the Odontological section of the Royal Society of Medicine.

The Museum of the Odontological section of the Royal Society of Medicine, at present contained in the premises of the Society in Hanover Square, has been offered to and accepted by the Council as a trust. The transference of this important collection represents one of the largest and most valuable additions ever made to the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons. The collection contains about 5000 specimens arranged in 13 large mahogany cases. At the present time the College Collection of Odontological specimens, many of them being those used by Hunter in the preparation of his monograph on the Teeth, are shown in several sections of the Museum. It is proposed that these should be brought together and added to the collection now entrusted to the College, the whole to be arranged in a commodious and accessible room in the basement of the Museum—under Room II, to be known as the "Odontological room." The addition of this collection, although it will entail a considerable expenditure of both money and labour, will place the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons in possession of one of the most valuable odontological collections in the world.

Museum Demonstrations.

A series of twelve demonstrations explanatory of the contents of the Museum were given during the past year, six by the Conservator and six by the Pathological Curator. The demonstrations by the Conservator related to the Teratological Collection, while those by the Pathological Curator dealt with the section exemplifying General Pathology. The Demonstrations were well attended, and have been the means of extending and improving the various sections of the Museum on which they were given.

The following is a list of publications connected with the contents of the Museum which have appeared during the year :—

Visitors and Students.

In the month of March their Royal Highnesses, The Prince and Princess of Wales, accompanied by Sir Frederick Treves, Bart., visited the Museum and were received by the President of the College. The total number of visitors for the year was 12,862, a slight increase on the number for the previous years. Special arrangements were made for the reception of two large parties of French Physicians, introduced by Dr. Leonard Williams. Several scientists from abroad have visited the Museum for the purpose of Research. Altogether 138 men have visited the Museum in connection with scientific enquiries which are being carried out by them. Dr. R. H. Paramore, F.R.C.S., and Dr. Robert C. Benington, M.R.C.S., have carried out investigations in the work-rooms of the College; the former, a research on the "Manner in which the Pelvic Viscera are Supported"; the latter on the "Collection of Negro-Crania from the Congo-basin," recently purchased by the College. Dr. Benington has placed his numerous observations and measurements at the disposal of the Conservator so that they may be incorporated in the Museum Catalogue.

*Saturday-
student-parties.*

The Assistant Conservator undertook all the arrangements connected with the reception of classes on Saturday-afternoon. The Museum was kept open on 28 occasions for 82 classes, 17 of which (305 students) were connected with Evening Science and Art Centres of the London County Council. The remaining 65 classes were composed of ambulance and polytechnic students (1182 in number) and were conducted round the Museum by their teachers, many of whom are medical men.

Presentations, Purchases, and Additions.

Osteological specimens and instruments belonging to the late Luther Holden, Esq., F.R.C.S., have been presented to the College by Mrs. Holden. Sir John Erichsen's pocket-case has been added to the collection of instruments—the gift of G. R. Lake, Esq., M.R.C.S. A remarkable gift is a copy of an ancient anatomical chart in a temple at Lhasa, presented by Major J. H. Walton. The Collection of Eyes, made by the late H. M. D. Bernard for his investigations of the minute structure of the retina, has been presented. A collection of casts of palates, showing the torus palatinus, has been presented by Rickman J. Godlee, Esq., F.R.C.S.; a collection of hyoid bones, showing the variation with age and sex, by F. G. Parsons, Esq., F.R.C.S.; a small collection of skulls from the Cook Islands by E. L. Gruning, Esq.; three skulls from Nepal, Dr. Charles Hose. Other gifts deserving of mention have been made by Professor E. Fawcett (model of lower jaw and Meckel's cartilage of human embryo); by Professor A. M. Paterson (cast showing the form of the stomach in a negro); by Dr. B. Glanvill Corney (skull of a native of New Caledonia, showing remarkable growth of bone on vertex); T. P. Legge, Esq., F.R.C.S. (penis of a West Australian native showing infundibulation). The College is also indebted to the following gentlemen for the gifts of valuable material to the Museum: Ernest H. Shaw, Esq., M.R.C.S., T. B. C. Benians, Esq., M.R.C.S., P. I. Watkin, Esq., M.R.C.S., C. C. Choyce, Esq., F.R.C.S., W. H. Clayton Greene, Esq., F.R.C.S., and A. J. Couzens, Esq., F.R.C.S. The following are the more important purchases: A collection of 83 crania of the Batetela, a negro tribe living in the South-eastern part of the Congo Free State; a collection of Orangs from Borneo, illustrating the anatomy growth, age, and sex changes of that anthropoid; a small osteological collection belonging to the late Professor H. G. Seeley, F.R.S.; the skeletons of 21 South-American birds, belonging to Dr. Forsyth Major; reconstructional model of developing brain of cat, by Professor Peter Thompson. Excellent dissections have been made for the Museum Collection by the prosector to the College, Wm. Pearson, and also by H. C. Wilson. Numerous sections and preparations illustrating the naked-eye structure of bones have been made by John Marle, articulator to the Museum.

The total number of additions to the Museum for the year is 383. Of these 58 have been placed in the Pathological Series: 33 in the Teratological Series; 4 in the series of Surgical Instruments; 14 in Human Anatomy; 84 in the Physiological Series; 115 in Human Osteology; 60 in Comparative Osteology; and 15 in the Invertebrate Series.

THE ADDITIONS TO THE PATHOLOGICAL COLLECTION, by the Pathological Curator: S. G. Shattock, Esq., F.R.C.S.

A descriptive catalogue of the Nubian Pathological Collection, comprising 300 specimens of fractures and diseases of bones, has been drawn up by the Pathological Curator. The list prepared by Dr. F. Wood-Jones and the information in the Bulletin issued by the Survey Department of the Egyptian Government were used in the preparation of the Catalogue.

Descriptions of a certain number of the Teratological Series have been drawn up, although these do not appear in the printed Appendix of 1909, it having been thought more desirable in future to have the descriptions of all the Teratological preparations typed upon cards for the formation of a Card Catalogue.

THE LIBRARY.

THE Library of the College dates from the year 1800, in July of which year the first grant of a sum not exceeding £50 was made for Library purposes. It had been the intention of the old Corporation of Surgeons to form a Library, but they failed to carry their intention into effect. In its early years the Library was considerably increased by presentations and bequests of books—the principal donors being Dr. Baillie, Sir Everard Home, Sir Charles Blicke, the widow of Mr. Sharp, Sir Ludford Harvey, Dr. Fleming, Mr. Cotton, and Mr. Long. The Court of Assistants also directed from time to time the expenditure of small sums of money for the purchase of books. Sir Charles Blicke, in the year 1816, invested the sum of £300 the proceeds of which were to be devoted to the same object. By these means extensive purchases were from time to time made from the libraries of Mr. Pitt, Mr. St. André, Sir Anthony Carlisle, and others. The progress of the Library, however, for the first twenty-six years of its existence was very slow, but in 1827 great efforts were made to put it in a thoroughly good condition; in that and the two subsequent years the sum of £5269 was spent in the purchase of books, and in 1829 the first Librarian was appointed. The College was practically rebuilt by Sir Charles Barry in 1835-36, and during that period the Library was closed, the books being packed in cases and stored in the Museum Gallery. On the 15th of February, 1837, the Library was re-opened, the rooms in the new building allotted to this department being the Reading-Room and the Librarian's Room. From this date until 1888 very little extra accommodation had been provided for the Library, a small Committee-Room had been fitted up with shelves and room made for a few books under the Theatre.

The munificent gift of Sir Erasmus Wilson enabled the Council in 1888 very materially to increase the Library accommodation, and at the same time to improve and re-decorate the existing building. The residence of the Conservator of the Museum at the east end of the College was pulled down, and the building erected on its site was devoted to Library purposes. On a level with the old Reading-Room an extension was built, the two rooms being connected by four archways, two on the ground and two in the Gallery. Beneath this a handsome Book-Room was provided, and below that a spacious Store-Room. The new building, as at present shelved, gives accommodation for 26,000 volumes. The Librarian's Room was considerably improved by throwing into it a loft above the old ceiling and a passage which led into the Reading-Room.

The whole of the Library premises were re-decorated, and the Electric Light was installed throughout. The heating apparatus, which was under the floor at the south side of the Library, was all removed, and in its place a coil of hot-water pipes was placed in each window. The gallery railing, being in an unsafe condition, was replaced by one of a stronger pattern.

This extension of the Library made it possible to re-arrange the books in such a way as to make them more accessible to readers. In the Gallery of the Extension stand the books on Anatomy, Physiology, Pathology, Medicine and Surgery; round the Reading-Room are ranged sets of the Periodicals and Transactions in greatest demand. There is also a good collection of dictionaries, encyclopedias, systems and general books of reference, conveniently arranged for the use of readers.

The lower room contains books on Chemistry and Physies, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Forensic Medicine, Diseases of Women and Children, History of Medicine and Surgery, Biography and Bibliography. The basement is devoted to old sets of Journals and Transactions, a collection of Theses, and to miscellaneous books.

The Librarian's Room contains the books on Biology, and certain valuable works, including many Early Printed Books, which are kept in glass cases.

The current numbers of the Journals are displayed on tables down the middle of the Reading-Room: four of these are fitted with sliding trays, in which books too large for the wall-cases, and illustrated works still in progress, are kept. The new books are placed on a stand in the centre of the Room; these are catalogued directly they are received, and are at once available for readers. A list of the additions is posted in the Library.

The first Catalogue of the Library was issued in 1831. A classed Catalogue was prepared by Dr. Willis, and was in use in MS. for some years; in 1838 a synopsis of it was printed, and the work itself was published in 1843. In 1853 an index of subjects was issued, and four supplements to the Author Catalogue were published between the years 1840 and 1860. In 1890 a List of Transactions, Periodicals, and Memoirs in the Library was published. A new Catalogue of Authors and Subjects is now being prepared on cards; these are kept in cabinets at the west end of the Reading-Room, and are available for use by the readers. When the work is finished the cards can be used as copy for the printers.

The Library is particularly rich in the Transactions of Societies, and in Periodicals relating not only to Medicine and Surgery, but also to the accessory sciences. The large illustrated works on Zoology, Anatomy, &c., are also well represented. There is a good collection of Portraits of Members of the Medical Profession.

In December 1892 a Common Room for the use of Fellows and Members was opened in the Reading Room adjoining the Entrance Hall.

A new Store Room for books was fitted up in the basement in 1901, and in 1907 a new room with an annexe was added in proximity to the gallery of the large Library.

During the past year the supply of books and journals has been well kept up.

The Donations to the Library during that period include:—his "Hunterian Oration," 1909, from the late President, Sir Henry Morris, Bart.; "Results of Operations for Carcinoma of the Tongue" and "Results of Operations for Cancer of the Larynx," from the President, Mr. Butlin; MS. volume by Edward Stanley (President in 1848 and 1857), containing names and particulars as to fees of those attending his lectures, from Mrs. Luther Holden, through the Conservator; his paper on "The Craniology, Racial Affinities, and Descent of the Aborigines of Tasmania," from Sir William Turner, K.C.B.; a choice bound "Facsimile Reproduction of the Diploma of Doctor of Medicine granted by the University of Padua to William Harvey, 1602, with a Translation," from Dr. Payne, Harveian Librarian; "Journal and Proceedings of the Royal Society of New South Wales," volumes xxxvii. to xli., from the Council of the Royal Society, N.S.W.; fifteen pamphlets, from the Wistar Institute; "The Alabama Student and Other Biographical Essays," from Professor Osler; Read's "Chirurgical Lectures of Tumours and Ulcers, delivered in the Chirurgeans' Hall," 4to, 1635, from Dr. Walker, F.R.C.S., of Peterborough; a framed mezzotint portrait of John Painter Vincent, President in 1832 and 1840, once the property of the late Dr. Charles Ray, together with obituary notices of Dr. Ray, from Mr. Herbert Sieveking; his "Three Hunterian Lectures on the Mechanism underlying the various methods of Artificial Respiration," from the Conservator; his Hunterian Lectures (1907) on "The Pre-Historic and Early Historic Inhabitants of England," from Professor Wright; his work on the "Position of Hysterectomy in London," 1909, from Mr. Bland-Sutton; his work on "The Value of Radiography in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Urinary Stone," 1908, from Mr. E. Hurry Fenwick; his "Report of Cancer of the Mouth and Tongue" (2 copies), 1908, from Dr. Collins Warren; "Bref och Scrifvelser af och till Carl von Linné," Tome ii., from the University of Uppsala; Malpighi's "De Viscerum Structura," 12mo, 1669, from Dr. J. Lionel Taylor; thirty pamphlets from the collections of the late Mr. P. S. King, from Mr. A. W. Waterlow King; sixteen volumes of publications of the "Conference Internationale pour la Prophylaxie des Maladies Vénériennes," held at Brussels in 1899 and 1890, from Dr. Dubois-Havenith; "Museums: their History and Use," 3 vols., 1904, from Dr. David Murray; "Catalogue of the Manuscripts in the Library of the Hunterian Museum in the University of Glasgow," by the late John Young, continued by P. Henderson Aitken, 4to, 1908, from the University of Glasgow; Christopher Wirtzung's "The General Practise of Physicke," translated by Jacob Mosan, folio, 1697, from Dr. Kirkpatrick Picard; "Collected Papers" of the late J. H. Bryant, M.D., F.R.C.S., from Mrs. Bryant; "Third Report of the Wellcome Research Laboratories, Khartoum" with "Supplement," from Messrs. Baillière, Tyndall, & Cox; "Studies in the Retina," Collected Papers of the late Henry M. Bernard, M.A., F.Z.S., from Mrs. Bernard; his "Severest Anæmias," Vol. i., from Dr. William Hunter; and his privately printed work on "Criminal Responsibility," from Dr. Folsom of Boston, Mass.

In addition to these donations Mr. Davies Sherborn presented five valuable and interesting Hunterian papers, including Clift's own account of his apprenticeship to John Hunter, MS., and other biographical data, and the MS. of Mrs. Ann Hunter's proposed Epitaph on John Hunter.

An exchange of thirty-four of our duplicate engravings of distinguished surgeons and physicians for forty prints and engravings of American medical men has been effected with the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, by the kind assistance of Mr. W. W. Keen, whose photogravure portrait has also been presented.

The "List of Periodicals, Transactions, etc." in the Library, begun by the late Mr. Bailey, and continued by Mr. Hewitt, has now been brought up to date by Mr. F. A. Fusedale, and is ready for the printer as a second edition.

During the past year the Library has been open 275 days, and the number of readers has been 10,290, the average daily attendance being 37.

VICTOR G. PLARR,
